諸家藏泉榻 Shoka Zōsen Tō circa 1900

Authorship and date of compilation unknown

These collectors have been identified by their personal seals.

Imai, Sadakichi 今井貞吉 (1831-1903)
Pen name: 風山軒 Fuzenken.

He was a well-known collector during the Meiji period and published Kosen Taisen (古泉大全) in 1888. This work illustrated 13,854 Japanese, Chinese and Vietnamese coins, as well Chinese amulets and Japanese esen (pictorial coins). Kosen Taisen was the major numismatic work at this time. Imai was also active in another collector association, Bishou senkai tomoshu (薇松泉会搨摸集).

Washida, Nobuaki/Nobutoshi) 鷲田信詮 (?-1906?)
Pen names: 寶泉舎 Hisensha and 汎友舎 Hanyūsha

He operated a well-known coin shop in the Kanda district of Tokyo under the shop name Hanyusha (汎友舎) (also known as Hosensha 寶泉舎). He was a staff member and administrator of the Tokyo Kosen-kai (Tokyo Old Coin Association). His son Washida Shin'ichi continued the coin business after his father's death.

Nakasada, Yokoi 横井仲定(unknown dates of birth or death)
Pen name: Kōsendo (好泉堂).

He was a Shinto priest (Shinkan). He is recognized for his significant contributions to Japanese numismatics (the study of coins), particularly his rubbings and catalogs of historical currency like the Tenpo Tsuho. Some of his coins were donated to major institutions, including the Tokyo National Museum.
